

Some General Information on Cherries

Crop

Bare root trees should be planted in the bare root season. This is usually November to March but it does depend on the climate. In some seasons trees have not been lifted from the nursery until late December, thus shortening the bare root season.

However potted trees can be planted all year round with the exception of July and August when the weather could be too hot. In this case they can be left in pots, well watering until the weather cools down a little.

Pick

Most cherries are ready to pick over the months of June/July.

Pruning

Only prune during the summer months, July August and September.

Planting Location

Cherries thrive well in a sunny spot.

Growing Tips

Protect the cherries from birds when they start to ripen . A good product to help is "CherryAid". See the information on the product CherryAid
